

Chapter XIV

The International Renewal Court of Justice

Article 92

The International Renewal Court of Justice shall be the principal judicial organ of the Renewed United Nations. It shall function in accordance with the annexed Statute, which forms an integral part of the present Charter.

Article 93

(1) All members of the Renewed United Nations are ipso facto parties to the Statute of the International Renewal Court of Justice.

(2) A state which is not a member of the Renewed United Nations may become a party to the Statute of the International Renewal Court of Justice on conditions to be determined in each case by the General Assembly upon the recommendation of the Governing Council.

Article 94

(1) Each Member of the Renewed United Nations undertakes to comply with the decision of the International Renewal Court of Justice in any dispute to which it is a party.

(2) If any party to a dispute fails to perform the obligations incumbent upon it under a judgment rendered by the Court, the other party may have recourse to the Governing Council, which may, if it deems necessary, make recommendations or decide upon measures to be taken to give effect to the judgment.

Article 95

Nothing in the present Charter shall prevent members of the Renewed United Nations from entrusting the solution of their differences to other tribunals by virtue of agreements already in existence or which may be concluded in the future.

Article 96

(1) The General Assembly, the Governing Council or the Security Council may request the International Renewal Court of Justice to give an advisory opinion on any legal question.

(2) Other organs of the Renewed United Nations and specialised agencies, which may at any time be so authorised by the Governing Council or by the General Assembly, may also request advisory opinions of the Court on legal questions arising within the scope of their activities.